Introduction

Community Success is an illustrated encyclopedia of community-based skills. Sixty commonplace activities, like using restrooms, crossing streets and shopping at a department store, are illustrated step by step. Appropriate corresponding social skills are integrated into each activity. For example, when shopping at a department store, students learn communication with store clerks, appropriate handling of store items, when to ask for help and how to return unwanted merchandise.

Community Success encourages independence! Designed primarily for individuals with cognitive or communication disabilities who participate in community-based instruction, the program features clear illustrations and easy-to-find activities. Ideal for low-level readers to use independently.

Community Success follows a four-step process: Review, rehearse, assess and perform.

- First, review the activity. Point out the sequence of steps and discuss the problems or issues that can occur during activity performance. Pay special attention to the social “do” and “don’t” pictures.
- Then rehearse the activity before stepping out. Emphasize steps that the user is having particular difficulty completing.
- Assess the user’s performance of the activity in actual community situations and establish a goal for skill development. Four Assessment Sheets are provided in the Appendix: Community Success Progress Report, Activity Assessment Sheet, Activity Goals and Routine Goals.
- Finally, help the user perform the activity as independently as possible. Use any instructional technique that is effective with the student (modeling, verbal prompts, picture cues) and appropriate for the community setting.

Using these resources, your creativity and the four-step learning process, your students can enjoy Community Success!

Social Skills: Dinner Invitation

If you're early, they won't be ready. If you're late, they'll be upset.

A hostess gift is a good idea.

Be a polite eater.

If you stay too late, you may not be invited again.

Dinner Invitation

ring bell — greet host

offer to help

enter and take off coat

go to table — be seated
